

Guides

Every Earth human has a group of beings from various sources of creation that will be with you throughout your life for guidance and protection. These beings are called guides and can be of light multidimensional transitional form or a physical highly ascended being of multidimensional transitional form.

These guides will all be at their own individual level of ascension, their work with Earth helping them on their learning journey of spiritual discovery. These guides work closely with the celestial guardians who form the Earth alliance team*. The diagram shows you how the guides work for each human.

Inner guidance ring
When you are born you will have a lifelong guide overseer which is known as your higher self. They are with you from the soul incarnation link and to your physical human death, where they oversee the soul transition and human essence back to the higher self and God source. They are more of a silent guiding light working with the guide team around you. You also have 3 other life guides, a gate keeper and 2 runners that aid with healing, guidance and sourcing knowledge for your life's mission. A gate keeper guide works closely with the higher self, other guides and observers and is the door to a powerful link of communication to beyond Earth's dimensions.

Outer guidance ring - OGR - these guides have a mixture of purposes. Some will be there to give extra healing and seeking knowledge for the Earth life mission. Some will be observers that are there to learn from the Earth life. The observers might then become one of your guides or over see an other human as a guide or choose to incarnate.

Changing guides - C G - On average through your Earth life you will have 4-6 extra guides at one time. These will come and go in different stages of your life. If you are a light worker or channeller then this will be a higher number to aid your development and life purpose.

Earth human guides - You can also have a guide in physical human or animal form. This is a human or animal who will be key to your spiritual life journey - they have an avatar soul (highly ascended master level) base intended to aid your spiritual growth. For example, a spiritual teacher, nurturing grandmother, or a true friend who understands who you truly are when others do not.

Animal guides and elemental beings
You have other guides as well such as from the animal and elemental kingdoms. The animal and elemental guides bring you grounding energy and reside in a dimensional area called Middle Earth while they work with you. When they have completed their work with their Earth human they return to their sources of creation.

Unison guides were introduced as part of the new Earth alliance since the Second World War on Earth. These guides ensure all parties such as guides, higher self, soul base level and the celestial guardians of Earth all work in unison with the human and each other. They also ensure that all can meet safely in a space of unison. This space allows for all parties to be able to communicate no matter the species and their source of creation.
